

Cashier Manual

Opening a shift, serving customers, taking payment and closing the day.

Who this is for	Cashiers, and anyone covering a till.
What it covers	The POS screen only — sales, returns, receipts, shifts.

Running the till

Everything on this page happens on the POS screen. You will not need any other part of RDI to serve a customer.

A sale, start to finish

1. Open your shift. The till will not sell until a shift is open. Count your cash fund and enter it when asked.
2. Say who is making the sale. Pick the fashion assistant from the dropdown, or press No associate if nobody served this customer.
3. Add the items. Scan each barcode, or switch to Browse and tap the products.
4. Apply a discount or promo if there is one.
5. Take payment. Press Complete Sale, choose how they are paying, and enter what they handed over.
6. Print the receipt from the window that opens, and hand it over.

Opening your shift

You cannot sell, refund or open the drawer without an open shift. If you see a screen asking you to open one, that is why.

- Count the cash you are starting with and enter it as your cash fund. Be honest about the figure — the end-of-day count is measured against it.
- If another cashier is taking over from you later, that is a turnover and you will both count the drawer together.

Who the sale is credited to

Before anything can go into the cart, the till asks who is making the sale. This is how floor staff get credit for what they sell, so it is worth getting right.

- Pick the person from the dropdown. Each one shows as a number and a name, like FA-0001 — Maria Santos, so two people with the same name are never mixed up.
- If nobody served the customer — they walked in, picked something up and came straight to you — press No associate. That is a proper answer, not a way of skipping the question.
- Got it wrong? Press Change on the green line at the top and pick again. You can do this any time before payment.

You cannot type a number here

The list only contains people head office has approved for your branch. If someone is missing, your branch manager adds them and HQ approves them — it is not something that can be typed in at the till.

Adding items

- Barcode mode is the fastest: scan and the item drops into the cart. A scanner types the code and presses Enter for you.
- Browse mode shows the products as cards. Use it when a label will not scan, or the customer is still deciding.
- Change a quantity with the + and - buttons on the cart line; remove a line with the bin icon.

Discounts and promotions

Senior citizen and PWD discounts cannot be combined with promotions. The till enforces this: choosing one clears the other.

Senior / PWD

Choose the discount type, then enter the name and ID number. These print on the receipt because BIR requires them.

Promotions

- The cart shows which promotions apply and what each one saves.
- More than one can run on a sale, up to the limits head office sets. If a promotion is dropped, the till says why — for example that it cannot be combined with another.
- A gift with purchase needs the free item scanned into the cart like anything else. Tap Make this the gift on that line and it goes to zero.
- If the gift the promo names is out of stock and the promo allows it, tap Use instead on another line. The swap is recorded.

Taking payment

Press Complete Sale and a payment window opens over the screen.

Paying with	What to do
Cash	Enter the amount handed over. The denomination counter helps you tally notes quickly, and the change due is worked out for you.
Card, GCash, Maya	Select it and confirm the amount.
Bank transfer	Select it and enter the reference number. The sale will not go through without one.
Split payment	Part cash and part something else — enter the second method and its amount.

Customer details (name, TIN, address) are optional and only needed when the customer asks for them on the invoice.

The receipt

- A receipt window opens as soon as the sale completes. Press Print and hand it over.
- Only the receipt prints — not the screen behind it.
- There is a gift receipt tab if the customer wants one without prices.
- You can also email or text the receipt from the same window.
- Reprinting later is fine. The first print is the original; every print after that is marked as a reprint, which BIR requires.

Returns and voids

Both need an open shift.

Returns

1. Open Returns and find the original sale by its receipt number.
2. Choose the items coming back and how many of each. You cannot return more than was bought, or more than is left after earlier returns.
3. Complete it. The stock goes back on your branch's shelf.

Voids

Voiding a whole transaction is a manager or admin job. If a sale needs voiding, call your manager rather than trying to work around it with a return.

During and after the shift

X-Read

A read of sales so far without closing anything. Take one whenever you want to see where the day stands. It does not affect the shift.

Closing your shift

1. Press End Shift.
2. Count the drawer and enter what is actually there. The till does not show you the expected figure first — the count has to be yours.
3. If you are handing over to another cashier, you will both confirm the count and how much cash is being surrendered.
4. Review the summary and confirm.

Count before you look

The blind count is deliberate. If the drawer is short or over, say so and let it be recorded — a variance that is explained is a much smaller problem than one that is hidden.

If the internet drops

- Keep selling. Sales are stored on the till and sent up when the connection returns.
- The screen shows when you are offline and how many sales are waiting.
- Do not close the browser or the till while sales are still waiting to sync.

Messages you may see

What the till is telling you, and what to do about it.

Message	What it means
No active shift	Open a shift before selling, refunding or opening the drawer.
Nothing can be added until this is set	Pick a fashion assistant, or press No associate.
No approved associates at this branch	None have been approved yet. Sell with No associate and tell your manager.
Not enough stock	The system thinks the shelf is empty. Check the item, and tell your manager if the count is wrong.
Bank transfer needs a reference number	Enter the reference from the transfer before completing.
Promo cannot be combined	One of the promotions stands alone. The till keeps the one that saves the customer most.
Discount capped	The promotions together hit the maximum head office allows, so the total was trimmed back.
Queued — will sync when online	The sale is saved on this till and will be sent up automatically.
